

Product Safety

After the recent recall activity, we find it important to address Imagination Entertainment's stance on safety.

We at Imagination Entertainment understand our responsibility in ensuring the quality and safety of our products. The majority of Imagination Games are produced in China. Here are some of the standards we currently have in place:

- All of our products meet or exceed the ASTM guidelines for the United States.
- We audit all of our suppliers regularly.

And after the recent reports we've added the following:

- Ensuring all of our suppliers are C-TPAT certified.
- Requiring all of our suppliers to provide details of internal batch testing of materials used for our games.

While our business is fun and games, we know we have a responsibility to you and your family and we take that very seriously.

If you have concerns about the Imagination Games in your home, please contact sales@imaginationgames.com.